

Extended Family Funeral Benefit | Fact Sheet

A funeral benefit provides financial assistance to the family of the deceased, ensuring that the deceased receives a dignified burial.

The extended family funeral benefit may be offered if compulsory core cover for the member is in place. The extended family benefit allows for cover to be provided to extended family members who meet the required criteria.

The benefit is voluntary and unapproved.

The basic benefit

The benefit is a flat benefit amount, selected by the policyholder at the start of the policy.

The benefit is paid as a lump sum to the main member.

Ancillary benefits

The policyholder can choose to provide additional cover by including any of the following ancillary benefits:

- Continuing cover if disabled benefit If disability income benefits are offered as part of the employee benefit programme, this benefit allows disability claimants to remain covered for funeral benefits whilst in receipt of disability income benefits.	- Paid-up benefit The paid-up benefit allows cover to continue for all insured's who are covered for benefits, on the date that the main member is disabled or dies. Premiums will be waived from the date of the main member's death or disability.
