

Funeral Benefits

The Funeral Benefit assist's the family of the deceased financially for the purpose of providing the deceased with a dignified burial. The Funeral Benefit may be offered as a single member benefit or as a family benefit. The family benefit allows for cover to include an insured's spouse, children or parents, depending on the policyholder's benefit selection.

The benefit structure

The benefit is always a flat benefit amount, selected by the policyholder at the start of the policy. If the policyholder has selected the family benefit, the benefits are usually scaled, as shown in the example below:

Insured	Maximum benefit allowed
Main member	R30,000
Spouse	R30,000
Child of 14 - 21 years	R30,000
Child of 6 - 13 years	R15,000
Child of 1 - 5 years	R7,500
Child of 0 - 11 months	R3,750
Stillborn	R3,750
Parent	R7,500

The policyholder can request a scale appropriate for the scheme; however, the benefit for the spouse, child or parent may not be more than the main member's benefit.

Ancillary benefits

In addition, the policyholder can provide additional cover by including any of the following ancillary benefits:

Paid-up benefit

The paid-up benefit allows cover to continue for all insured's who are covered for benefits, on the date that the main member is disabled or dies.

Premiums will be waived from the date of the main member's death or disability.

Body Repatriation Benefit

The Body Repatriation Benefit is offered as part of our funeral benefit solution. This benefit allows for the repatriation of mortal human remains for distances of 150km or from destination. Please refer to the Body Repatriation fact sheet setting out the maximums of the benefit as well as what the service entails.

Continuing cover if disabled benefit

If you offer disability income benefits as part of your employee benefit program, this benefit allows disability claimants to remain covered for funeral benefits.

If you select any of the ancillary benefits, there may be additional or different terms and conditions which will apply to your policy.
